

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Two senior clinicians in the field of bovine and small ruminant health management

The National Veterinary School of Alfort (EnvA) is a public institution of higher education and research which trains nearly 850 students divided into six promotions.

The Veterinary Teaching Hospital dedicated to production animals (CHUV-AP) is a clinical platform serving teaching and research missions. The CHUV-AP welcomes students in initial training as well as 2 to 4 interns.

The CHUV-AP manages:

- Consultations and hospitalization of more than 400 production animals (mainly cattle, sheep and goats) accommodated in a new dedicated hospital ;
- Herd follow ups, sanitary or prophylactic follow ups ;
- Management of clinical cases of these farms ;
- Carrying out audits of farms facing herd problems.

The EnvA is currently seeking candidates for two senior clinician positions in the field of bovine and small ruminant health management to complete its multidisciplinary team of the CHUV-AP.

Duties

Participate in clinical teaching and service of the CHUV-AP

Develop extra-mural (in farm) services

Develop research activities

Participate to teaching activities: supervise veterinary thesis, tutor veterinary students, supervise residents...

Develop actions of continuing education

Participate to the out of hour duties of the CHUV-AP

Participate to communication activities of the CHUV-AP

Profile

Candidates must:

- Hold a Doctorate in Veterinary Medicine, or equivalent;
- Be licensed to practice veterinary medicine in France;
- Be able to communicate in French;
- Have a strong clinical experience;
- Have a strong interest in teaching.

Contract

The salary and the duration of the contract are to be discussed depending of the profile of the candidate.

These positions include 50 days off per year.

Applicants must address their CV and motivation letter to:

recrutement@vet-alfort.fr

djerene.maso@vet-alfort.fr

berangere.ravary@vet-alfort.fr

maxime.delsart@vet-alfort.fr